will not be removed from the Southern States. Experience has proved him invincible. So the best thing that Mr. Bull can do is to look the matter squarely in the face, instead of trying to humbug himself into the exploded idea that he can get his cotton elsewhere.

THE JUSTICE OF THE LEGISLATURE DEFEAT-ED .- The public are aware of the extraordinary fact that one of the members of the Albany Legislature has recently been arraigned for corruption before that highly honorable body and expelled, as one not fit to sit in high places with so pure and immaculate a conclave. But, not content with the expulsion of this frail Eve of the masculine gender from the Albany Paradise, the Legislature, in the intensity of their virtue, have actually summoned the tempter Lucifer also, to answer the charge of whispering the very name of a bribe into the ear of the fallen member, and, upon the report of the committee, summarily handed him over to the tender mercies of the Sergeant-at-Arms, to be consigned to a dungeon until the legislative session is over. But the lobby was not going to permit any of its kith and kin to be thus sacrificed; so it took the victim, Mr. Nelson, from the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms, and hurried him off to parts unknown. Thus the virtue of the Albany Legislature is mocked and the majesty of its power set at naught.

BROOKLYN ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—"Linda" was announce ed at this house for last night, but owing to the illness of Ferri the "Sonnambula" was substituted for it. Miss Kellogg did not achieve the same success in the role of performance, nevertheless, was marked by the same inefforts. Throughout the whole of the first act, and particularly in the opening aria, she sang admirably, not always sustain itself. In the upper notes it was pure and sympathetic, but it occasionally showed evidences of feebleness in the lower register. This was compen-sated for by her execution of the fine passages "Ah non credea mirarti" and of the "Ah non giunge uman pensiero" in the last act, which was all that could be desired. Brignoit's Elvino is so well known that it is bardly necessary for us to criticise it. He was in excel lent voice, and sung the beautiful music of his part with sreat teeling and expression. Susini acquitted himself and expression of Rudolpho, but we own that it is creditably in the singer. On General Collineau, of the French army, has just died in China. He was greatly distinguished in Algeria and the Crimea for his personal courage. As Colonel of the the Crimea for his personal courage. As Colonel of the First regiment of Zouaves he was the first to enter the Malakoff. Those who were at the French Exposition of 1857 may remember the Yoon picture. The fine looking man in the foreground, rushing on the breastworks of the Malakoff, in advance of his regiment, his face streaming with blood, is General Collineau. He won his rank of Brig utier in Agiers in 1858, and when the Italian war broke out commanded a brigade of infantry. His handsome person, fine talents and courage gave his friends great hopes of his future distinction.

A Merrico Compunert.—Captain S. W. Pike, of this city, late of the ship Mameluke, has received from the several companies baving risks on that vessel at the time he commanded, a beautiful chronometer, now on exhibition at Willard's, in Boston, in token of his faith fulness and good seamanship in bringing his vessel to port when in a leaky condition. It is from Jeha Poole manuracturer for the Admiralty, in London, bears the following inscription, and is raid to be one of the finest instruments of its kind in this country:—

THE TARIFF TROUBLES.

Jute, Tooth, Brandy, Other Spirits, and Cotton, in Trouble-low the New Deputy Collector Fills Up His Spare Time-Seizure of Contraband Goods from Passenger by the Persta, &c., &c.

The business at the Custom House yesterday morning was a little more lively than it had been during the "ast few days, although, when compared with that of the same period of hat year, it was very slow. As the day wore away, the business did not continue so brisk -there ore, at the close of office hours, there was very little excitement at the desks, in a business point of view.

Some few points of dispute came up about the new tariff rates. The following written query was put to the tariff rates. The following state of the following goods under the new tariff.—Burlaps, canvass paddings, jute yarns jute twines. These are entirely, or in part, manufacture of jute. I sak this, as to my reading, the two sections i which they are mentioned conflict with each other?

D. McaRTHUR.

The last clause of section 15 of the new tariff read

On jute goods, fifteen per centum ad valorem; on all other manufactures of jute or Sisal grass, not otherwise provided for, twenty per centum ad valorem. The broker contended they should be admitted at fifteen per cent as "jute goods," but as there is an evident nsistency between the two rates as above, the Collector decided the deposit be taken at twenty per cent. and after appraisement the overplus to be refunded. The broker said he should pay the outy under protest. The decision with regard to the following clause under the ten per cent section:—

Horns, horn tips, bones, bone tips, and teeth, manufactured.

is thus rendered. The "horns, horn tips, bones and bone tips," are to be considered as not having gone through any process of manufacture; that elephant's teeth are ivory de facto, and rated under the special clause relating thereto, and the "teeth manufactured, specified above, are to be considered human teeth and no other. " Those who can't turn can't spin."

The next trouble was with regard to the following clause of section 6:-

Certain brandles have recently been imported that have been below first proof. There is no provision made for a less ratio of strength than first proof, although provision has been made for a greater. How then was this duty to be fixed. No other possible rate could be taken by law otherwise than "thirty three and one-third per centum ad valorum" upon "spirituous liquors not enumerated." This decision caused great dissatisfaction among those in

On the duty upon spirits a question was asked yester day, whether a ce3c of gin, in bottles, would have to pay duty on the case as well as the bottles. It was decided that the duty would have to be paid under the specification of "Manufacturers of wood not otherwise provided for-thirty per cent." The style of charging the duty on a case, containing a dezen bottles of gin would be-The spirit, specific, according to proof, from forty to fifty-six cents per gallon; bottles, 30 per cent ad valorem; case, 30 per cent ad valorem. How will our spirit importing merchants like this? Does the same rule apply to the

A dispute arose yesterday between two entry clerks about the following claus:-

First-On all manufactures of cotton not bleach First—On all manufactures of cotion not bleached, colored, stained, painted or printed, and not exceeding one hundred threads to the square inch, counting the warp and filling, and exceeding in weight five ounces per square yard, or cent per square yard; on fluer or lighter goods of lik description, not exceeding one hundred and forty threads to the square linch, counting the warp and filling, two cents per square yard; on goods of like description, exceeding one hundred and forty threads, and not exceeding two hundred threads to the square inch, counting the warp and filling, three cents per square yard, on its goods exceeding two hundred threads to the square inch, counting the warp and filling, four cents per square yard; on all goods sub-need in the foregoing schedules, if lieached, there shall be lexed collected and paid an additional duty of one half of one enty per square yard, and if printed, painted, colored or steined, there shall be Level printed, jointed, celored or stained, there shall be bened, collected and paid a duty of ten per centum ad valorem in addition to the rates of duty provided in the foregoing schedules.

The dispute was whether, in assessing the ten per cent additional duty, the haif cent per square yard for bleachor four cents per square yard, specific duty. The mer-chant asserted it should not be. In this ne was seconded it is believed, intends otherwise. The me-chant, owever, has decided to try the case in a law court, as it is one that will involve millions of dollars during the next four years, if the tariff continues in existence so

The new Leputy Collector does not take his seat until next Monday. In the meantime he is making himself useful-as he was observed yesterday in one of the un derground rooms of the Custom House busily engaged with several clerks in assorting endorsing and fineg a portion of the ten bushels of applications that have been

A seizure was yesterday made on board the steamship Persia, being the first made under the administration of Mr. Barney. It appears that a passenger was about to leave the vessel when he was seached by officer Brown, who took from him some half dozen pieces of new diamond jewelry, valued at hearly $300. The passenger stated ere not for sale but for personal use, but the question is to be decided by the proper officials.

THE SPOILS.

The Victors in Search of Their Shares-The Castom House Yesterday-The Applicants and the Collector-The Out. siders-The Lookout from the Galleries, &c., &c.

In consequence of the rush on Monday, a better kind of order was observed yesterday at the door of the Collector's room. At half past two some of the brokers' boy's took up their stations at the door, ready for mischief; but as the applicants arrived and saw the state of affairs, they began walking about the rotunda, rather than subject themselves to be the object of their re-marks. At about a quarter to three o'clock an officer made his appearance and moved the boys from their usurped positions, much to their annoyance Shortly after this the applicants began to gathe together, although a large number still kept moving about the building. At three o'clock the galleries arous the rotunda became nearly filled with clerks and others who wished to see the fun, although they wished to be thought above it. Those persons on the floor of the re tunda whose thoughts were not more seriously employed began making humorous sketchy remarks upon those in the galleries, to the amusement of the bystanders. As the minutes advanced the crowd began to be more con centrated, and some who wished only to be observers got nside the scow and mounted the desks behind the gree curtain. The voice of the officer, shouting "Get down there," soon made the would be elevated persons find the ber of persons present who had no intention to apply for office, but who held up large rolls of paper, to intimate to distant friends that they held gigantic petitions, which had they been official documents, would have frightened not only Mr. Barney, but all his assistants.

At a quarter past three o'clock the doorkeeper advanced to open the door, and the officer took up his station just inside of it. As the applicants made somewhat of a rush, the officer's voice might have been heard shouting, "steady," "go easy," &c. It was rather a tight squeeze to get into the Collector's room; but once inside, there was more room and comfort. Mr. Barney was ready to receive his visiters, and his secretary and chief, the documents were disposed of much quicker than on the previous occasion. One thing was certain that the number of applicants was not quite so large but of those who were there, each was eager to present his documents first; and, having taken pos session of the front and outer side of the table they gradually worked between the table and the wall, until an outsider might have expected to see Mr Barney criven into the corner. But he managed to maintain his stand about half way, and we hope when he is about to be cornered by some knotty point in his official duties he may be able to make a stand and main tain it if just.

SHOOTING AFFRAY IN CHAMBERS STREET -A Serious affray occurred in Chambers street, near Chatham, yesterday atternoon, between two of the workmen employed Bruce's type foundry, named Caleb Boeistridge and Thomas McQuade. The parties lived in Williamsburg, it appears, and were both paying attentions to the same young lady. A feeling of jealousy existed between them which often gave rise to quarrels, and occasionally a fight would take place. On Monday they met on the ferryboat while on their way to the foundry, and the result was a quarrel, which finally terminated in blows Yesterday morning the quarrel was renewed in the workshop, and at dinner time it was agreed that they should a journ to the street, and there settle the dispute. As soon as they reached the sidewalk, licquade, who is quate a yourg man, pulled off his coat, and was making reacy for the puglistic encounter, when his antagonist suddenly drew a revoiver and shot him in the nock. MRIANCHOLY SUICIDE IN BROADWAY, -- Stephen Van Renese her, a native of Albeny, about thirty five years of age, comm tied suicide at the saloon of Lizzie Boyt, No. 478 Breadway, on Monday night, under somewhat melancholy cucumstances. Deceased, it appeared, was a man of very respectable connections, being a lineal descendant of Pr coman Wild, and had been married about three years comm Wile, and has been married about taree years. For the past six months or so it was noticed that he indulged rather freely in the use of spiritonus fluors, but his friends had to idea that he was so fari out as to entertain thoughts of self-destruction. On Monday he seemed to re in presentant of his usual good health and spirits, but towards evening, when he emerged the drinking salom above mentioned, he appeared moody and discontented. About ten o'clock P M, while convering with some friends in the barroom, he made the remark that he was about to take his last drink, and asked the party to join him. Without thinking for a moment of what was going to follow they acceled to the request and the entire party stepped up to the counter. While waiting for the trinks Van Remsselier was observed to pour a dark colored uquid into a glass and drink the same, but no strention was pult to the cheemstance until about half an hour afterwards, when deceased became unconsible and appeared to be diving a physician of high repute was soon in altendatics and the unfortunate man was partially restored to reason. PUBLISHERS,
The undersigned, having ascertained that some sneaking coward and underhanded enemy has been sending through the country an anonymous circular detriments! to the character and standing of our house, also grossly libelling some of cour advertising customers, we offer the above reward to any person who will give positive information that will lead to the detection of the party or parties making the said circulars. We are some in human shape, who will be guilty of so underhanded and cowardly as act as assailing amonpmously an unoffencing firm, in order to grattly a malicious desire to injure one of their customers against whom he may have hostile feeling; still, in this case, we are obliged to protect ourselves and those who have favored us with their advertising patronage. We are pret well satisfied in our own mind who the party is; still wish to obtain positive information, and hope by this course to do so. To those who have seen this circular we would rate, that we have not yet been obliged to add the ominons word "agent' to our name in order to defrand our creditors out of their just dues; neither have we failed over twice in order to cheat those with whom we have dealt—and that we would not stoop so low, and be so contemptibly, cowardly mean as to attack anonymously a firm, whose senior partiner was known it have been confined to his led for the past two months with reverse and probably for all liness. Time will show who are not seed drels, and we do not intend to be stabled in the dark we do not intend to be stabled in the dark we accurately and we make the will be contempted to the sale of the matter to the bittle end. The above rewards and who are not seed drels, and we do not intend to be stabled in the dark we accurately and the matter to the bittle end. CURTIS & MCARTBUR,
